MRS. LAMAR DAVIS GIVES MUSICAL TO ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS ADAMS

lightful in all its appointments was the musical given on Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Lamar Davis at her home, on Olive street.

A surprise to many was given during the afternoon, when the announcement of the engagement of Miss Kate L. Adams and Dr. John W. Brown, of Bremond, Tex., was made. The guests were received at the door by Mrs. Davis, and upstairs were greeted by the honoree. Miss Adams, Mrs. Davis's home was transformed into a Japanese garden. Peach blossoms decorated the chande-liers and every nook and corner through liers and every nock and corner through the lower floors.

From the chandeliers were hung Japanese lanterns, which cast a rosy bue over the rooms. Japanese draperies were hung over the darkened windows and pink and white ross delightfully supplemented the decorations. As the quests descended the stairs, after depositing their wraps, they were each presented with a Japanese napkin in pink, done up in small packages, and were teld not to open them until they were given permission.

Weddings

J. W. Parker and Miss Eunice Barton were quietly married in El Paso a week ago and endeavored to keep their marriage a secret, but several of Mr. Parker's friends managed to learn of the issuance of the marriage lecense and Mr. Parker smillingly admitted that it was true, after trying to make his friends believe it was all an April fool' loke when they first chided him about being married. The marriage is the culmination of an acquaintance begun in Alamogordo, N. M., three years ago. Miss Barton moved to El Paso about two years ago and Mr. Parker came a year later, and established a business which is new the Elite laundry. They have taken an apartment on West Missouri street.

Malpai Beds Are Dangerous, However—Many El Pasonus Spend Sunday in Their Automobiles.

G. A. Martin and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Turner returned Sunday evening from Deming in Mr. Martin's Chaimers "30." They went out Saturlay, spent the night in Deming and cturned Sunday. Going out they were necompanied by E. E. Neff and chauffeur, and Mr. Nett's little daughter and niece, Margaret Neff and Nancy Williams, who made the run in a Reo V. Mr. Neff sold the car in Deming and returned Sunday night with his party on the train. Going out, the run was made from El Paso to Deming in five and a half hours, and the party made averal stops. Returning, Mr. Martin's party left Deming at 1 octock Sunday afternoon and reached El Paso at 7:15, with stops of half an hour at the Maipal beds to make pictures and rest, and half an hour on San Juan hill for lunch. Stops were also made at Camberay and Lanaris to change water in the radiator. There is considerable sand on the road between the top of Jan Juan hill and a opint about 19 milles west of Lanaris. The rest of the road is splendid, except the two Maipal beds, which are absolutely dangerous. They cut tires and there is also danger to the crank case and transmission housing from the sharp rocks. There is also sand in one of these Malpai beds that makes the pulling very disagreeable and more dangerous, as it is treacherous. One of the rocks cut a big gash in one side of a rear lire on the Martin machine Sunday, but the tire was not punctured. There was not an accident of any other character to either of the machines on the entire trip, although the heavy pulling heated the engines considerably. Water is obtained at Intervals of every few miles, however, so that there is no trouble on this account. Any 30 horsepower car ought to make the trip casily on high speed except at two or three short points. San Juan hill, which the El Paso automobile club put in shape, is not hard to pull at present, as the sand has all been covered with clay. A detailed description of the road will be printed in the automobile department of The Week End Herald this week.

BOARD IN NO HURRY TO PARDON MANLEY

Austin, Tex., April 7.—There will be no rush on the part of the board of pardon advisors to take action on the application of J. D. Manley for a pardon. Manley is the former national guardsman convicted of the killing of Louis Richtenstein at Dalias by running a bayonet through him, while Manley was on duty during a visit of president Taft to Dalias. Manley was given at the last trial 40 years in the penitentiary, the case having been tried in Ellis county on a change of venue. The court of criminal appeals affirmed the case, and a few days later a preliminary application was filed with the governor in behalf of Sergt. Manley. A few days after the higher court had acted on the application the governor granted a parolle to Manley to visit his sick daughter and as far as can be learned Manley is still on parole.
